

Can going green be cheap, easy, and good for the planet?
Yes, according to Josh Dorfman, who's written a new book -
The Lazy Environmentalist on a Budget:
Save Money. Save Time. Save the Planet
— to prove it.

the book's a great resource to find out what specific, affordable appliances, energy-saving gadgets, and fuel-efficient cars are available now or coming out next year.

More than anything else,
The LE on a Budget serves as an excellent e-directory.

“waterwise, wirelessly-controlled sprinkler system... Josh names... Cyber-Rain”